

Corporate Cold Sample: 200 UK Companies for Review

Per your 31 May green light on Managing Director, here is the corporate cold sample list across the four ICP segments. Names only at this stage. No contacts pulled, no Apollo credit spend. This is the sample-approval gate before the verified contacts get pulled and the campaign loaded.

Prepared for: Gurmej Pawar Date: 1 June 2026 Source: Apollo people-search (free, no credit spend)

Geography: UK-wide

Summary

200 unique UK companies pulled across the four ICP segments locked on 31 May. Each company appears once, deduplicated across the four cuts.

Apollo holds about 91,478 matching UK contacts across these segments.

The 200 companies below are a representative cut for your approval. Once you give the go, the verified contacts get pulled at the per-segment proportions you confirm and loaded into the Meji Media Corporate Events campaign.

The Moonlight & Mistletoe past-customer exclusion gets applied at the enrichment step (when we have email domains to cross-reference against your booking archive), not now.

The Four ICP Segments

The locked ICP from the 22 May plus 31 May exchange:

- 51 to 500 employee UK companies: PA, EA, Office Manager, HR Manager, Head of HR.
- 11 to 50 employee UK companies: CEO and Managing Director only (not generic Director).

Each universe number below is the count of UK people Apollo holds who match that exact cut (title plus location plus employee band), not companies. The four numbers vary because different roles populate companies at different densities.

PA / EA / OFFICE MANAGER

23,600

51 to 500 emp, 100 in sample

HR MANAGER / HEAD OF HR

14,575

51 to 500 emp, 40 in sample

CEO

20,569

11 to 50 emp, 30 in sample

MANAGING DIRECTOR

32,734

11 to 50 emp, 30 in sample

Why the 100 / 40 / 30 / 30 split (and not raw-proportional)

A strict universe-proportional split would over-weight Managing Director and under-represent the highest-conversion cut. The 200-company sample is instead weighted to where the buyer actually sits for a corporate Christmas party at each company size:

- PA / EA / Office Manager (100 in sample, biggest slot). At mid-market companies, the PA tier typically researches venues, opens the booking inquiry, and decides the shortlist. The CEO might sign off, but the PA pulled the trigger. This is the buyer.
- HR Manager / Head of HR (40). Same company-size band, secondary slot. Owns staff events and year-end celebrations, but venue selection is often co-owned with the PA tier rather than HR-led.
- CEO and Managing Director (30 each). At small companies (11-50 employees) there is no dedicated organiser, so the CEO or MD IS the buyer by default. Smaller slot allocation reflects lower revenue per booking at this company size, not weaker conversion.

What this means for pilot runway

Total addressable UK universe across the four cuts is roughly 91,000 people before de-overlap and the Moonlight & Mistletoe past-customer exclusion. Your Apollo Basic plan supports about 2,500 verified contacts per month at current credit pricing, which works out to roughly 3% of the addressable universe per month. There is multiple months of ICP-fit volume to scale into before we would need to refine the cuts further.

What we explicitly do not see at this stage

The Apollo people-search free path returns company name, role title, and "has-this-field-on-record" flags for email, industry, and employee count. It does NOT return person names, email addresses, phone numbers, exact employee counts, company websites, or industry classifications. Those all sit behind the per-credit enrichment endpoints, which is why this sample is "names only, no credit spend": you get the company-shape signal you need to approve the direction, without burning the budget that pays for actually reaching them.

What I'd Like Back From You

Three quick reads. None of these need long answers, a one-liner each is enough.

QUESTION 1

Does the mix across the four segments look roughly right for a corporate Christmas party pitch? If you would weight one segment heavier or lighter, just say.

QUESTION 2

Any companies in here that obviously do not fit (companies you already have a relationship with that would feel awkward, charities you would not pitch, anything else)? Note them in a reply and I will drop them, plus apply the Moonlight & Mistletoe past-customer exclusion at the enrich step.

QUESTION 3

Anything missing in the shape you would expect to see (a specific industry vertical you would want over-weighted, for example)?

If the shape looks right as-is, a simple "go" is all I need. From there I pull the verified contacts (around 1,500 across the 200 companies, roughly 60% of your monthly Apollo budget) and load the Corporate Events campaign ready for activation.

How We Got This Data

Pulled directly from Apollo's `mixed_people/api_search` endpoint, the free read path that returns company names and titles without spending verification credits.

1. Four separate searches, one per ICP segment, each filtered on UK location plus the size band plus the title list.
2. Results deduplicated by company name within each segment, then across segments.
3. Universe counts are the full `total_entries` returned by Apollo for each segment (the addressable population), the sample is the first N unique companies returned.
4. No personal data, no email addresses, no phone numbers have been pulled or revealed at this stage. That happens at the enrich step after your go.
5. The Moonlight & Mistletoe past-customer exclusion runs at enrich time against the booking archive (`full_data_parties.leader_email` and `delegates.email`) by domain match.
